Georg, you know I have no political convictions. Can I help it if other people have? If the Nazis come, I'll do anyone else would do — just sit and wait for it to blow over. Maria, he must pretend to work with these people. I admire the way he feels but you must convince him, he has to compromise. You must talk to him, if these children don't sing in the festival, well, it will reflect badly on Austria, and it wouldn't do me any good either.
